RESULT AREA 1

IMPACT/OUTCOME/OUTPUT

USD 540.540

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Indicator</th>
<th>Baseline + Target</th>
<th>Baseline</th>
<th>Target</th>
<th>Output</th>
<th>Source</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3.1 Reaching and sustaining peace through inclusive peace agreements, conflict resolution and peacebuilding initiatives</td>
<td></td>
<td>5 training sessions</td>
<td>8 training sessions</td>
<td>Final narrative reports IGAD and AU</td>
<td>multilateral organization</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>IGAD</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>n/a</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Netherlands has supported the work of the African Peace and Security Architecture (APSA), and in the Horn of Africa, especially its deployment together with other humanitarian international partners. The APSA has contributed to building the institutions to fulfill their mandate. The program has focused on training of the commissioners, who have a significant chance of spearheading policies on peace and security. All training materials and evaluations were aimed at capacity building of the organisations to fulfill their essential tasks in the field of peace and security under the framework of the African Peace and Security Architecture (APSA). For the first time, the program covered the whole of the African Union in South Sudan and Sudan, including all the African Union’s member states in the Horn of Africa, and the full range of conflict preparedness activities. The program is being executed with full support of the African Union.

The results reported are based on this pooled fund. In a region as prone to conflict as the Horn of Africa, the major success is that a functioning intragovernmental organisation in the field of peace and security exists, even though its functioning is not yet optimal.

Results of the AU Peace and Security Departments have been achieved as planned. APSA is being executed as expected. The pooled group of donors is working with the African Union Commission to make management, financing and reporting more results based. When this process will be finalized, it will be better possible to measure exact progress. IGAD had initially planned to perform more activities, but received less funds than the foreseen budget and could not realize its entire planned program. Also, in some sections of IGAD, implementation capacity could still be enhanced. Also, IGAD is reporting on the activity level, which makes it difficult to make results visible. In this reporting period, the Netherlands was part of a Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement, supporting IGAD together with like-minded partners, such as Denmark and Norway and closely aligned with a joint program to reformulate the support to AU PSD. The Netherlands is participating in this process. The Netherlands is one of the active partners to work on the design of a pooled fund for all partner support to PSD, to increase both political (leadership AUC - ambassadors) and technical level. The Netherlands, as co-chair of the African Union Partner Group and one of the active international partners, plays an active role in this. This is done together with other partners in the EU and Sweden. The results reported are based on this pooled fund. The importance of the EU funded Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement is that it is a pilot project to test the concept of joint programming and financing in the EU. This is a step forward in improving coordination and harmonization of EU support to the African Union and other international partners.

The results reported are based on this pooled fund. The importance of the EU funded Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement is that it is a pilot project to test the concept of joint programming and financing in the EU. This is a step forward in improving coordination and harmonization of EU support to the African Union and other international partners.

AMENAGEMENT OF RESULTS

To what extent have the outcomes for this result area been achieved?

The Netherlands has supported the organization to build their training capacity and their learning methodologies. This results in an effective learning process. The challenge of the program is to reach the outcomes as planned and to make them fit for a donor results framework. The learning in this learning program should have a stronger focus on the framework of a results framework. The report of learning in this learning program should have a stronger focus on the framework of a results framework. The report of learning in this learning program should have a stronger focus on the framework of a results framework. The results reported are based on this pooled fund. In a region as prone to conflict as the Horn of Africa, the major success is that a functioning intragovernmental organisation in the field of peace and security exists, even though its functioning is not yet optimal.

The Netherlands has supported the work of the African Peace and Security Architecture (APSA), and in the Horn of Africa, especially its deployment together with other humanitarian international partners. The APSA has contributed to building the institutions to fulfill their mandate. The program has focused on training of the commissioners, who have a significant chance of spearheading policies on peace and security. All training materials and evaluations were aimed at capacity building of the organisations to fulfill their essential tasks in the field of peace and security under the framework of the African Peace and Security Architecture (APSA). For the first time, the program covered the whole of the African Union in South Sudan and Sudan, including all the African Union’s member states in the Horn of Africa, and the full range of conflict preparedness activities. The program is being executed with full support of the African Union.

The results reported are based on this pooled fund. In a region as prone to conflict as the Horn of Africa, the major success is that a functioning intragovernmental organisation in the field of peace and security exists, even though its functioning is not yet optimal.

Results of the AU Peace and Security Departments have been achieved as planned. APSA is being executed as expected. The pooled group of donors is working with the African Union Commission to make management, financing and reporting more results based. When this process will be finalized, it will be better possible to measure exact progress. IGAD had initially planned to perform more activities, but received less funds than the foreseen budget and could not realize its entire planned program. Also, in some sections of IGAD, implementation capacity could still be enhanced. Also, IGAD is reporting on the activity level, which makes it difficult to make results visible. In this reporting period, the Netherlands was part of a Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement, supporting IGAD together with like-minded partners, such as Denmark and Norway and closely aligned with a joint program to reformulate the support to AU PSD. The Netherlands is participating in this process. The Netherlands is one of the active partners to work on the design of a pooled fund for all partner support to PSD, to increase both political (leadership AUC - ambassadors) and technical level. The Netherlands, as co-chair of the African Union Partner Group and one of the active international partners, plays an active role in this. This is done together with other partners in the EU and Sweden. The results reported are based on this pooled fund. The importance of the EU funded Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement is that it is a pilot project to test the concept of joint programming and financing in the EU. This is a step forward in improving coordination and harmonization of EU support to the African Union and other international partners.

The results reported are based on this pooled fund. In a region as prone to conflict as the Horn of Africa, the major success is that a functioning intragovernmental organisation in the field of peace and security exists, even though its functioning is not yet optimal.

Results of the AU Peace and Security Departments have been achieved as planned. APSA is being executed as expected. The pooled group of donors is working with the African Union Commission to make management, financing and reporting more results based. When this process will be finalized, it will be better possible to measure exact progress. IGAD had initially planned to perform more activities, but received less funds than the foreseen budget and could not realize its entire planned program. Also, in some sections of IGAD, implementation capacity could still be enhanced. Also, IGAD is reporting on the activity level, which makes it difficult to make results visible. In this reporting period, the Netherlands was part of a Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement, supporting IGAD together with like-minded partners, such as Denmark and Norway and closely aligned with a joint program to reformulate the support to AU PSD. The Netherlands is participating in this process. The Netherlands is one of the active partners to work on the design of a pooled fund for all partner support to PSD, to increase both political (leadership AUC - ambassadors) and technical level. The Netherlands, as co-chair of the African Union Partner Group and one of the active international partners, plays an active role in this. This is done together with other partners in the EU and Sweden. The results reported are based on this pooled fund. The importance of the EU funded Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement is that it is a pilot project to test the concept of joint programming and financing in the EU. This is a step forward in improving coordination and harmonization of EU support to the African Union and other international partners.

The results reported are based on this pooled fund. In a region as prone to conflict as the Horn of Africa, the major success is that a functioning intragovernmental organisation in the field of peace and security exists, even though its functioning is not yet optimal.

Results of the AU Peace and Security Departments have been achieved as planned. APSA is being executed as expected. The pooled group of donors is working with the African Union Commission to make management, financing and reporting more results based. When this process will be finalized, it will be better possible to measure exact progress. IGAD had initially planned to perform more activities, but received less funds than the foreseen budget and could not realize its entire planned program. Also, in some sections of IGAD, implementation capacity could still be enhanced. Also, IGAD is reporting on the activity level, which makes it difficult to make results visible. In this reporting period, the Netherlands was part of a Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement, supporting IGAD together with like-minded partners, such as Denmark and Norway and closely aligned with a joint program to reformulate the support to AU PSD. The Netherlands is participating in this process. The Netherlands is one of the active partners to work on the design of a pooled fund for all partner support to PSD, to increase both political (leadership AUC - ambassadors) and technical level. The Netherlands, as co-chair of the African Union Partner Group and one of the active international partners, plays an active role in this. This is done together with other partners in the EU and Sweden. The results reported are based on this pooled fund. The importance of the EU funded Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement is that it is a pilot project to test the concept of joint programming and financing in the EU. This is a step forward in improving coordination and harmonization of EU support to the African Union and other international partners.

The results reported are based on this pooled fund. In a region as prone to conflict as the Horn of Africa, the major success is that a functioning intragovernmental organisation in the field of peace and security exists, even though its functioning is not yet optimal.

Results of the AU Peace and Security Departments have been achieved as planned. APSA is being executed as expected. The pooled group of donors is working with the African Union Commission to make management, financing and reporting more results based. When this process will be finalized, it will be better possible to measure exact progress. IGAD had initially planned to perform more activities, but received less funds than the foreseen budget and could not realize its entire planned program. Also, in some sections of IGAD, implementation capacity could still be enhanced. Also, IGAD is reporting on the activity level, which makes it difficult to make results visible. In this reporting period, the Netherlands was part of a Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement, supporting IGAD together with like-minded partners, such as Denmark and Norway and closely aligned with a joint program to reformulate the support to AU PSD. The Netherlands is participating in this process. The Netherlands is one of the active partners to work on the design of a pooled fund for all partner support to PSD, to increase both political (leadership AUC - ambassadors) and technical level. The Netherlands, as co-chair of the African Union Partner Group and one of the active international partners, plays an active role in this. This is done together with other partners in the EU and Sweden. The results reported are based on this pooled fund. The importance of the EU funded Joint Programming and Financing Arrangement is that it is a pilot project to test the concept of joint programming and financing in the EU. This is a step forward in improving coordination and harmonization of EU support to the African Union and other international partners.